Arab American and Chaldean Council (ACC)

Fact Sheet 2010

COMMUNITY REVITALIZATION
Community & Neighborhood Development
Initiative: The Seven Mile Project

Facts About Us . . .

Southeast Michigan is home to the largest concentration of Arab and Chaldean Americans in the U.S., numbering close to 500,000. Throughout the 20th Century and continuing today, the Detroit area has attracted a steady stream of immigrants from the Middle East. In 1979, acutely aware of the fact that these newly arrived immigrants needed assistance in order to adapt to life in the U.S., a group of visionary community leaders founded the Arab American and Chaldean Council (ACC).

MISSION:

ACC is the premier non-profit human service organization providing service to the Middle Eastern and mainstream communities in Southeast Michigan. As a bridge of understanding, ACC maximizes the skills, resources, and expertise of the community to:

- Build cooperation and communication
- Raise the level of individual well-being
- Increase cross-cultural understanding through education
- Deliver human services, counseling and opportunities
- Gear community members towards achievement
- Empower through employment training and placement

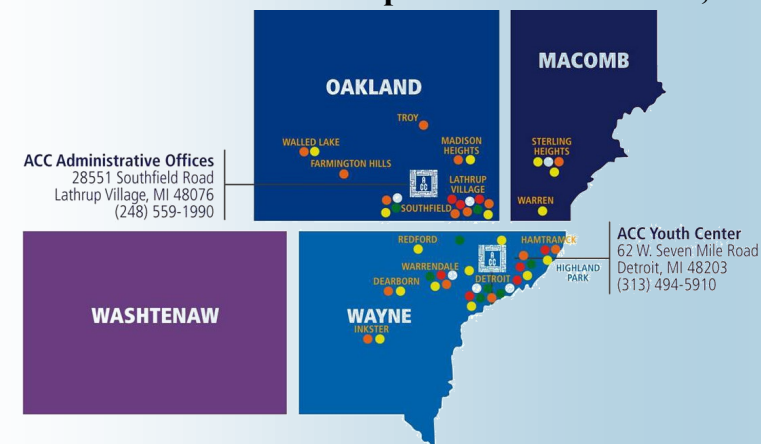

- ◆ We are the largest community-based human and social services organization assisting the middle eastern communities in the U.S., services specifically tailored for our target population.
- ◆ ACC is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization, was established in 1979 in Detroit, Michigan.
- ◆ Programs deliver educational, employment and training, behavioral health, youth recreation and self-enrichment services, cultural activities, immigration and health services.
- ◆ In 2010, over 540,000 services were provided to 84,838 unduplicated clients.
- ◆ We have 40 Outreach office in the tri-county area; Wayne, Oakland, and Macomb.
- ◆ ACC provides services to the multi-ethnic community of Metropolitan Detroit. ACC is an equal opportunity program provider; programs are available to all those in need.
- ◆ Our behavioral health program has been accredited by The Rehabilitation Accreditation Commission (CARF) since 1992. ACC was the first Arab American organization to receive this accreditation.
- ◆ We collaborate and hold strong positive relationships with federal, state, local, and private agencies.
- ◆ Our staff members are bilingual and trilingual, state licensed professionals in various fields of human and social services.
- ◆ We have a health clinic that provides primary care services to the uninsured and underinsured in the surrounding communities.
- ◆ We are a proud Michigan Works! affiliate.
- ◆ The mission of ACC is to maximize the skills, resources and expertise of clients and support the overall wellbeing of the community.
- ◆ We provide comprehensive services to refugees from war torn countries in the world.
- ◆ We provide translation and interpretation services to various federal, state and local government agencies.
- ◆ ACC's Cultural Tapestry Program offers an array of training workshops to law enforcement, health agencies, educational groups, and community organizations.

“Year-after year, we find ourselves revising our agenda for the purpose of reaching those most needy. We continue on our mission of reflecting hope where many encountered hopelessness; and perseverance for those who felt a need to give up; and security for those in need of knowing that ACC will go beyond the call of duty to provide them with the highest quality human services; and inspiration to provide that extra boost to propel them to life changing experiences.” ~ Dr. Haifa Fakhouri, ACC President and CEO
